Ava was playing in the Whispering Woods Clearing. The sun was warm, and the grass was soft. Ava felt happy, happy, happy.

Her friend Squeaky the squirrel came running. Squeaky looked very sad. Oh no, Squeaky was sad!

Ava asked, "What is wrong, Squeaky?" Squeaky squeaked, "My favourite acorn is lost! My shiny, crunchy acorn is gone!"

Ava gave Squeaky a hug. "Don't worry, Squeaky," said Ava. "We will find your acorn together. We will look and look!"

Ava and Squeaky looked under a big, green leaf. They looked very carefully. No acorn! Not there.

They looked behind a smooth, grey rock. Squeaky peeked around it. No acorn! Not there either.

Squeaky thought and thought. "Maybe it is near my home!" she chirped. "Let's go to my Hollow Tree Home!"

Ava and Squeaky went to the cozy Hollow Tree Home. It was warm and soft inside. They looked around, around, around.

Ava saw something shiny. "Look, Squeaky!" she said. It was the shiny, crunchy acorn! "Hooray!" squeaked Squeaky. "You found it!"

Squeaky held her acorn, very, very happy. Ava was happy too. Ava and Squeaky were best friends, and they found the lost acorn!

The End
